

PC Load

If you thought Stored Value was cool before, get a load of this.

You know how convenient the Bank of America Visa Cash Card is and how easy it is to use. But with limited locations to load value, sometimes it's not as convenient as it could be.

Well, now it is.

PC Load is the innovative new feature that lets you load value to your Visa Cash Card via the Internet. Whether you're at home or at the office, cash is as close as your PC. And this is all you need to get in on the action:

- HomeBanking set up for Bill Pay.
- Reloadable Visa Cash Stored Value Card.
- Bank of America Smart Card Reader (Smarty).
- Windows 95 and higher or Windows NT.
- Netscape Navigator 3.xx (not available on Netscape Communicator 4.xx).

To get started with PC Load, just fill out and mail the enclosed enrollment form. Once you do—and you meet all the requirements—you'll receive the remaining information and materials to complete the set-up. Then you'll be able to load your Visa Cash Card... view your Visa Cash transaction log... even view the balance of your checking account. It's a snap. Especially with the on-line help screens guiding you through the process.

In addition to being user-friendly, PC Load is also wallet-friendly. There are no Bank of America transaction charges for performing the PC Load transaction.

Of course, PC Load offers the same security for loading value to your card that you now have when you pay bills with HomeBanking. Isn't that a load off your mind?

Now when your Visa Cash Card is running on empty, you no longer have to make a run for the money.

That's the value of PC Load.

Detach here